Art Unit: 1618

Claims 1-5 and 19-30 are presented for examination.

The claims will be examined to the extent that they read on the elected subject matter.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-4 and 17-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Bok et al. (U.S. Patent 6,096,364).

Art Unit: 1618

Bok et al. teach the use of the generic formula, which contains the specie of myricetin for lowering blood glucose in a mammal. See the abstract and column 2, formula 1. The above reference differs from the claimed invention in specifically mentioning myricetin as one of the compounds used for lowering blood glucose. It would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art to use myricetin for treating diabetes, considering that the prior art teaches that the compounds presented by the generic formula as claimed herein, have been previously used for lowering blood sugar. One skilled in the art would have been motivated to employ the teachings of the above reference, since it relates to the generic compounds encompassing myricetin for lowering blood glucose. To use specific specie of a generic formula, being used for lowering blood glucose, for the same purpose as the generic compounds, would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art in the absence of evidence to the contrary. Applicant has presented no evidence to establish the unexpected or unobvious nature of the claimed invention, and as such, claims 1-4 and 17-30 are properly rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103.

Claim 5 is objected to as being dependent on a rejected claim.
